Donations Pour In To Firemen's Doll And Toy Fund

Bay St. Louis firemen will again this Christmas donate their time and effort to sponsor the firemen's Doll and Toy Fund. The fund last year was responsible for placing toys and food in the homes of 22 families and 137 children.

Fire chief Richard Fayard, organizer of the fund, said that the department would again work to see that everyone has food and each child has at least one toy this Christmas.

"The merchants were real good to us last year," Fayard said, "and we hope they will be again this year, too."

Many merchants donated items last year to the fund, including wrapping paper, paint brushes, paint, and discounts for food purchases.

Cash donations to the fund last year totaled $212.85. From this money, Fayard said, the department was able to purchase turkeys, potatoes, green peas, cranberry sauce, and all the trimmings for the 22 families visited.

One patron from Kiln, Miss., donated $100 to the fund, and the fire and police departments in Waveland collected bicycles for the firemen to paint and repair.

Already this year, Fayard said, a patron from New Orleans had donated a truck load of toys to the fund.

Fayard said that the department would be happy to accept any good useable or repairable toys, or a new toy if someone wished to buy one for the fund. Cash donations are also greatly needed to purchase the food for the Christmas dinners, he said.

Donations of any kind can be brought to the city fire station located on Old Spanish Trail or mailed to the Firemen's Doll and Toy Fund, Bay St. Louis Fire Department, Old Spanish Trail, Bay St. Louis.

Waveland Refuses GRPC Assistance

The Waveland Board of Aldermen voted last week to forego adopting a resolution which would have designated Gulf Regional Planning Commission as the coordinating agency for any county-wide sewerage 201 study. The action followed a meeting Nov. 19 with Jack Different, Commission director, and Hancock County Supervisors and Bay St. Louis council members at which time Different offered his proposal.

Under the proposal Gulf Regional would coordinate the engineering services of each municipality and the county as a whole and prepare applications for grants to federal and state agencies for a 201 study. Recently Jackson and Harrison Counties adopted a similar resolution designating Gulf Regional as coordinating agency.

Waveland city attorney Lucien Gex said that the city was willing to cooperate in any way they could in any county study, but that Waveland was already well on the way with its own sewerage system which has already received federal and state sanction.

"We can't see where this would do us any good," he said.

Aldermen expressed fears that the city would be stuck with more funding for a study which would essentially be beneficial primarily for the rest of the county.

The council authorized Gex to send a letter to the county supervisors offering to cooperate in any way that they could, short of approving Gulf Regional as county coordinator.

In other business, city clerk Barbara Rappold read a resolution to the board from the Hancock Chamber of Commerce specifying the relocation of the I-

Family Court Judge Stresses Coast Area Drug Abuse Fight

By Renee Smith
staff writer

It is necessary for adults to teach children all they can about drug abuse and then let the children make their own decisions because "these kids have got to learn to make decisions for themselves since they are going to be exposed to drugs and there is very little parents can do to prevent this," Judge Lawrence Semski of the Harrison County Family Court, told a group of civic leaders Monday night.

Three years ago Family Court tried about six drug related cases, Judge Semski said. However, he added, many cases came to the court as uncontrollable children, runaways or with problems at home. "We later found that the use of drugs was often the basis for some of these problems," he stated.

"I recognized early that there was a lot of drug abuse in Harrison County and I wanted to do something about it," Judge Semski told the group. But the effectiveness of the court is measured by the resources of the community and it needed psychologists to help in the drug abuse fight, he explained. He added, that there are now two psychologists on the court's staff.

At this time Dr. John Russell had taken over the Mississippi Gulf Coast Drug Abuse Center, Semski stated. Dr. Russell had done wonders with some of the young people who had been sent to him and "I wanted to see a full time drug abuse program going in conjunction with the family court," Judge Semski added.

Family Court with Dr. Russell's help tried to obtain sufficient funds to go into the drug abuse field, the judge said. He continued by saying that they had almost obtained a grant from the federal government but it did not come through.

The judge said they finally went to the Mississippi Law Enforcement Assistance Agency (LEAA) for help. They did get a grant from LEAA to the Harrison Family Court for the drug abuse center. LEAA offered to fund the program for six months. This year another LEAA grant runs from July 1, 1973 to June 30, 1974. (The drug abuse center is unique in that it is the only agency of its type which receives funds from LEAA.)

District Attorney Albert Necaise told LEAA officials that 25 to 30 percent of his docket was drug cases, Judge Semski stated.

He added that LEAA funds require a "hard cash match." By the end of the fiscal year if the center does not have matching funds it will lose the LEAA grant, which requires about $20,000 a year in matching funds.

The judge told the group that there are now hard drugs (heroin, speed, etc.) on the coast and they have been here for quite a while. Many young people feel that if they stay away from heroin they are safe but this is not so, Semski continued. In November 12 of the 88 cases filed in Family Court were drug cases, he said.

The judge then explained how a young person who is charged in a drug case is probated through family court. Judge Semski said that he has to decide if a young person should be given probation and what this probation should consist of.

If the case against a youth is strong enough to require institutionalizing then this is the sentence he receives. All juveniles brought before the court and adjudicated as a delinquent are assigned counselors, he added.

The counselors often work with Dr. Russell and his staff and Dr. Russell frequently goes to the detention center to counsel youths.

Sometimes as part of a child's probation he must go through the drug abuse center's program and then can only be released from the program by the center.

Dr. Russell told the group that the drug abuse center is under the Harrison County Family Court, which is the center's fiscal agent and administers the funds for the total program.

Dr. Russell stated that after a long, hard fight the center has finally gained credibility and is beginning to be recognized. He said that the Southeast Regional Training Center of the School of Medicine and Psychiatry of the University of Miami is planning to distribute the Coast Drug Abuse Center's handbook nationwide.

Judge Semski and Dr. Russell were speaking before a gathering of civic leaders who are planning a Winter

Guardsmen Win Match Awards

Two Gulf Coast men won top individual awards in recent Mississippi National Guard 1973 State Pistol matches in Jackson.

Sp4 Ernest C. Vancourt, a member of Headquarters 890th Engineer Battalion, Gulfport, took the overall individual championship in the Open Division with a score of 2,559 of a possible 2,700 points.

Sp4 Russell E. Elliott, Bay St. Louis native and member of the 135th Transportation Company of Bay St. Louis, won first place novice division with 802 points.

Elliott, who made the State National Guard pistol team, brought home trophies for Novice 22 calibre pistol champion; Novice .45 calibre pistol champion; Novice combat pistol match champion.

In addition to the trophies, Elliott was issued match grade pistols and equipment for the .22 cal. pistol, .38 cal. pistol and .45 cal. pistol. A shooting jacket and cap were also won by the young guardsman in his first state competitions.

Eliminations for the team began in October in Meridian. The matches were conducted by the National Guard's 31st Support Center, RAO, at the Mississippi Law Enforcement Training Academy in nearby Rankin County. COL. Cohen Robertson, Commander of the 31st Support Center, presented trophies to the winners in ceremonies at the conclusion of the matches.

Lolacano Resigns As Tiger Coach

J. D. McCulloch, superintendent of Bay-Waveland Municipal School District, confirmed Wednesday the fact that head football coach J.E. Lolacano had notified the administration that he was resigning his position at the end of the current school term.

Lolacano, a Bay St. Louis native, is in his eighth year with the school system, the last five of which he has been head football coach for the Bay Tigers. Although the resignation was tendered verbally, a formal letter of resignation has not yet been submitted to the school, McCulloch said.

Coach Lolacano will be greatly missed by all in the athletic department, McCulloch said, because of his enthusiasm and dedication in the field of sports and the training of young men.

Br. Paul To Speak On ETV

BR. PAUL MULLIGAN
Brother Paul Mulligan, chairman of the Math Department and coordinator of educational television at St. Stanislaus High School, will appear on an educational special to be aired December 5, at 7 p.m. The program may be seen locally on Channel 19, which is the Mississippi Educational Television station.

The topic of Brother Paul's appearance will be the "value of helping" as regards the life of a student and his relations with other students and adults.

HEMS Services Explained

A discussion of some of the many emergency services available through the newly organized Hancock Emergency Medical Services (HEMS) was presented by HEMS President Edward Friloux Nov. 18 at a meeting of St. Clare Home-School Association.

The main topic of the talk was cardiac-pulmonary resuscitation, illustrated by slides and films on CPR methods approved by the Louisiana Heart Assn. Friloux explained. Following the program and a training session using an LHA mannequin, 28 persons attending were certified to administer CPR.

ADOPTION DATES SUNDAY

Adoption day at the Waveland dog pound has been changed to Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m.

There are still a number of healthy dogs, including a male and a female wire-haired terrier, available for adoption.

TROPHIES for top individual honors won in recent Mississippi National Guard pistol matches are displayed by Sp4 Russell Elliott of Bay St. Louis. Elliott is a member of 135th Transportation Co. of Bay St. Louis.

Senior Citizens Happenings

Thanksgiving dinners were a real community activity at the Senior Citizens Center this year. About 150 seniors gathered for a turkey dinner at V.G. Jones Center and had the best party of the year.

The turkeys were roasted by the cooks at Head Start and sliced at St. Stanislaus. Senior volunteers brought the traditional pumpkin and sweet potato pie.

Other delicious foods were prepared by volunteer cooks Henrietta Edwards, Sarah Williams, Mattie Sams, Eugenia Benoit, and Lucy Mae Chapman. After dinner everyone enjoyed the music of Flip Johnson's band, and especially the dancing with the students from the St. Stanislaus Honor Society.

At Pearlington 50 Seniors enjoyed Thanksgiving Turkey and the music of Flip Johnson's band at the Community Center. Irma Cuevas was in charge of the program. Doris Glass was in charge of the program at the Kilm, where another 60 Seniors gathered for dinner.

The newest happening at the Senior Citizens Center is the noon luncheons which will be served every week Monday through Friday. This program is a part of the Older American Area-wide Model Project funded through the Southern Mississippi Planning and Development District, and is available to Seniors in need who are 60 years or older.

Threet In Army Exercise

Army Private First Class Larry A. Threet, 19, son of Denton M. Threet, Route 3, Bay St. Louis, Miss., participated with other American and Allied Troops in Exercise Reforger V in Germany, Oct. 10-16.

The military airlift command flew approximately 11,000 U.S.-based soldiers and more than 1,000 tons of equipment to three different airfields in Germany in preparation for the event.

Immediately after arriving overseas, the redeployed units drew combat gear and vehicles from prepositioned storage sites in Germany and moved to the exercise area to begin the seven-day field maneuver.

Fitted against the airlifted forces were Europe-based elements of NATO Forces of the U. S., Germany and Canada.

The exercise, conducted by the joint chiefs of staff and NATO, focused on the procedures and techniques for receiving, equipping, assembling and employing units after they arrive, rather than on rapid deployment of troops from the U. S.

Private Threet is regularly assigned as a maintenance specialist with Company B, 34th Signal Battalion in Germany.

Scout Troop Holds Court Of Awards

Cub Pack 206 and Scout Troop 208 sponsored by American Legion Post 139, held a joint Pack meeting and Court of Awards November 15 at the Legion Home.

After presentation of colors and pledge of allegiance to the flag, Al Summy gave the invocation. Commander Al Vetter welcomed the guests.

Dr. William Von Almen, Palynologist with Chevron Oil Company, gave a brief talk on parents responsibility in aiding children with advancement in Scouting and school.

The following awards were presented by Scoutmaster Watson Johns: Scout badges to David Strong, Roger Lacoste, Roland Parsons, Rickie Hardie, Michael Prendergast, Jim Collins, Frank Samoz, Sherrod Willett, David Murtagh. One-year pins to Andre Arceneaux, Bruce Cain, Herbert Carver, Michael Haas, Billy Lee, Ricky Prosser and Jeff Winstead. Two-year pins to Andy Buehler, Bobby Fayard, Stephen Johns, Huewitt Parsons and Michael Rosato; patrol leader stripes to Stephen Johns and three-year pins to Mark McCarty, Elmer Parsons and Kevin Seeger. Daniel Dalgrenpoint received a public health badge; Bobby Fayard, reading, music, rowing, one-mile swim and

NINETEENTH BIRTHDAY
Miss Selena Barabino, one of the oldest citizens of Bay St. Louis, celebrated her 90th birthday last Thanksgiving day at the home of her relatives Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Benoit.

Guests for the dinner included—Mr. Lawrence Sylvester, Miss Portia Labat, Miss Inez Labat and Margerete Alexander.

Pollution Merry-Go-Round

COUNTIES FACE A TRANSITIONAL PERIOD

by Dan Barber
Echo staff writer

(Ed. Note: This is the first in a series of in-depth studies on the current pollution and sewerage control problems facing the three Gulf Coast counties, with particular emphasis on Hancock County.)

Since a moratorium was imposed upon Harrison County by the federal Environmental Protection Agency last September, municipal and county officials of that entity and Jackson County have struggled to come up with a solution to the problems of coordinating vastly diverse and independent approaches to problems faced by all such political bodies regarding water pollution and sewerage control.

On Sept. 26 EPA and the state agency for EPA, the Miss. Air and Water Pollution Control Commission held a public hearing to inform the public why the moratorium was imposed and what was required to alleviate the problems.

The problem, then and now it seems, was that Harrison County had over 60 separate, sewage treatment facilities either constructed or under construction and no overall plan for any of them.

They were simply 60 separate and distinct bodies constructed by schools, subdivision contractors, municipal bodies, county bodies, etc. which had no relation to each other and were of vastly different qualities. Each facility conceivably could have been designed and constructed by a different engineer, whether this was actually the case or not.

When it came time for the county to meet revised guidelines for quality control under Section 201 of the federal water Pollution Control Act Amendments of 1972, each entity wanted to move to develop its own plan, to use its own engineers.

EPA, however, had different ideas about such things. The municipalities and county, they said, should work to develop a regionalized approach to pollution control.

EPA decided that it was desirable to perform a study over a specific area and decreed that Harrison County and the west part of Jackson County should be lumped together.

Moratorium Imposed
Bickering occurred among the political entities over whose engineers would be used, who would pay for what and how much. Thus the moratorium — a ban on further construction of any treatment facility until the government agencies of the two counties agreed upon a common solution to the problem.

As a result the governing bodies of Harrison and Jackson counties took up the challenge and acted to join hands in the pursuit of a regional facilities plan, since it was either that or else, came up with a resolution that was adopted jointly with the cities of Biloxi, Gulfport, Pascagoula, Moss Point and Ocean Springs.

The resolution endows Gulf Regional Planning Commission with power to coordinate all planning and engineering activities for the signatories and specifies that the board of supervisors of Harrison and Jackson Counties file a joint application for a grant of funds.

Each political subdivision still retains the right to designate their own engineers and attorneys with reference to planning, construction and financing of that portion of the total project which directly relates to them.

GRPC to Hancock
Thus involved in the planning of two counties and because, in the words of GRPC director Jack Diferent, the commission is in existence for the purpose of serving a four-county body, Hancock County was offered the service of GRPC also as a coordinating agency.

Paul Demarais, deputy director, spelled out in plain English what the commission's purpose was in meeting with the Hancock supervisors one week ago.

"Our purpose was to convey to them how the other two counties were proceeding with their 201 plan," he said. "Now it is up to the supervisors and the cities (Waveland and Bay St. Louis primarily) whether they want to proceed in this same line.

"If they decide to do it separately or differently from the commission, the commission would still have to be involved with land use projections, population projections, economic data, transportation plans, and so forth. They should and would utilize this information."

Desmarais said that it would be wise to proceed with the studies together. A separate grant application would be filed for Hancock County, but they would be similar, he said.

Hancock County has already begun to feel the effects of disorganization.

Waveland is well under way with a sewerage collection system that was in the talking stages two years ago, and only recently let a contract on a sewerage treatment facility. Bay St. Louis recently voted to let a contract to a New Orleans engineering firm to begin a study for a complete sewerage collection and treatment facility, albeit they have not yet signed any contract and may now hold off action on any such move. Finally the county supervisors last week signed a contract with de Laurel Engineers of New Orleans to perform a county-wide sewer program to consist of a master sewer plan including waste collection, control, abatement, treatment, infiltration-inflow analysis and construction of such facilities as may be financed.

Regional Planning A Must
As Diferent told the county supervisors in joint session with city officials, Hancock County is not under any moratorium, but approval of any plan is unlikely unless there is regional planning involved.

In the words of Desmarais, "I doubt very seriously that the state is going to let Bay St. Louis proceed alone on any 201 study. They are not going to build one plant for this city and another for this one and so on," he said.

Thus the problem boils down to who is going to coordinate this study. Will it be the county? Or possibly the commission?

Gulf Regional Planning has recommended that the cities of Long Beach and Pass Christian be included in any study involving Hancock County.

Long Beach and Pass Christian did not agree to provisions of the resolution with the rest of Harrison County, and for understandable reasons, according to Desmarais.

Both cities drain west, he said and fall into a natural drainage area with Hancock County. Surface drainage of the two cities is carried into tributaries of the Wolf River and into the Bay St. Louis Basin. From Gulfport and westward into Jackson County, surface drainage either empties into the Bay of Biloxi or the Mississippi Sound.

"So it is understandable to separate these bodies," Desmarais said.

Which Way Will They Go?

The commission came to the board of supervisors to deliver a two-fold message. In the words of Desmarais again, "First, to inform them of what the commission has been asked to do by two other counties and secondly to offer our services to Hancock County if they elect to proceed in the same way."

Thus it remains for the board of supervisors to decide what course of action they will set forth upon. The supervisors could designate de Laurel as their agent. Or they could accept the offer of Gulf Regional Planning Commission.

The Waveland Board of Aldermen wasted no time last week in voting not to participate in any further study or to designate Gulf Regional as county coordinator.

City attorney Lucien Gex summed up the feelings of the board saying "the resolution is inapplicable to Waveland at this time."

It remains to be seen now what the city of Bay St. Louis will vote to do, but there are indications that the city will accept GRPC's proposal.

(Next week: "The Problems We Face: A closer look at pollution in Hancock County.")

What Would You Like To Know . . .

About Your City?

Members of the Bay St. Louis City Council have expressed a desire for local citizens to become better informed of the affairs of their community and the workings of their city government.

Questions concerning the tax structure or assessments, city operating costs, areas of income and disbursement of funds and any other of a reasonable nature will be answered by council members in a new series starting this week in the Echo.

In cooperation with the city council, the Echo will publish each week a questionnaire which can be clipped out and mailed or brought in person to City Hall. Questions submitted will be answered the following week and as much information as possible on the subject will be supplied by whichever council member appropriate. While the council would prefer that the correspondent identify himself, names are not necessary and any question of a reasonable nature will be answered.

QUESTION & ANSWER

Dear Sir:
"For the past three years I have heard you say the number one problem in our town is poor drainage. Why hasn't there been an effort to correct this?"
Answer:

Drainage is perhaps the biggest problem of the community both from the standpoint of size as well as from the cost involved to correct the situation.

We have approximately 30 miles of streets within the corporate limits of the community. A rough estimate is that 80 percent, or 24 miles, are without curb and gutter or underground drainage. This means that we have 48 miles (both sides of the 24 miles) of roadside drainage ditches to keep clear of grass, weeds, and debris.

In addition to the roadside ditches there are also miles of public drainage ditches running through private property. A very rough estimate would be 10 or 12 miles of this type of ditch.

Usually the public drainage ditches through private property are much more difficult to maintain than those bordering streets and roadways.

We have six men to keep all ditches cleared. We have one road machine. There is a limitation however, to the ditches that can be kept cleared by use of a motor grader.

Providing proper drainage throughout the city is, therefore, completely out of the question. The cost would be about 3 million dollars. My reply is brief but I hope that it provides a satisfactory explanation of why the drainage shapes up as a major community problem and why there is not more done about the matter.

Very Sincerely,
Warren Carver, Mayor.

Peter Principle In Practice

One thing you have to say for a lot of the people in this county - they've got guts. And that characteristic becomes especially apparent when there is any executive position open within one of the municipal or county agencies.

The more highly defined and technically demanding the job, the more ineligible the persons who apply for it. And when the position is politically oriented (is there any other kind?) the applications really flood in.

This fact has become painfully obvious at the Hancock County Port and Harbor office, where the growing list of applicants for the recently opened position of P&H director is - frightening.

An amazing assortment of individuals, most of whom are socially maladjusted, incompetent wretches are blithely offering their services to direct the course and development of a multi-million dollar industrial park. One who is reputedly the town drunk and has rarely held a job of any kind has even thrown his hat in the ring. Now that really takes courage.

Admittedly, the $13,500 salary would appear astronomical to some and the job has been billed as "part time". The latter designation would, if it were not so tragic, be highly amusing.

The misconceptions regarding the entire Port and Harbor complex are rampant. As a matter of fact, it is difficult to find anyone in the Hancock County environs who has any cognizance of the magnitude of the complex. The commissioners do and they're frightened. It's kind of like a person who is afraid of domestic cats having a tiger by the tail, to quote a cliché, and we do feel compassion for the commissioners.

However, if out of imprudent desperation or the usual strong dose of political pressure, they foolishly appoint a hopelessly unqualified man to the director's chair, the compassion stops. They will get what they deserve - catastrophe.

Colling's Corner

By E.S. Colling

Christmas is coming! In three more weeks the "Day" will arrive; meantime we are in the midst of the happiest season of the year. Is it because we are looking forward instead of backward, or because for once we are thinking about what we can do to make others happy? At Christmastime, as "Louisa May Alcott said, "I had a pleasant time with my mind, for it was happy!"

But what about those - a goodly number - whose minds and efforts are centered on benefitting themselves even at the expense of others? A case in point is now before us: the local doctor who has pleaded guilty of non-payment of his income tax for three years. We condemn him for this, but we can't help feeling that his greater guilt was in the fees he charged for his services, whatever they were. This man, in those three years and operating in a small and not-too-affluent community, pocketed more than three hundred thousand dollars. What worries, hardships and unhappiness he has caused for many people! No doubt he has plenty of excuses for what he charged them, but as Aesop said, "Any excuse will serve a tyrant!"

We often wonder how people who are so indifferent to the welfare of their neighbors can live with themselves. We don't admire men who are a "soft touch" or who are pushovers for more aggressive people, but we certainly don't believe that any small-town doctor has benefitted his community to the tune of $104,000 a year.

But let us allow the learned man to stew in his own juice as he contemplates the life he has wrecked by his own greed and avarice, and turn our thought to the season that is now upon us. Deck the halls with boughs of holly, 'Tis the season to be jolly! And if you have any doubts about it, just go to one of the meetings of the Senior Citizens or the RSVP, where you will see a hundred or so of the older people of this section, some of them tottering with age and infirmities, chatting, laughing, singing, as though they were back again in the early part of the century reliving some other Christmas season when life was bright and hope was high.

Christmas is a time of great expectations, whether for a child visaging a new doll or fire engine, or an older basking in the love of the dear ones around him. It is a time when, regardless of age, we think of the old folk-tale of the Ship of Life putting out from the dock and the people still on shore shouting "There they go - goodbye, goodbye", and as she sails into the dawn the crowd awaiting her crying "Here they come - welcome, welcome!"

Local VA News

BY

Chester L. Curvey

In general, every employer who hires one or more employees is required by law to withhold a certain percentage of the gross earnings of the employee and in turn the employer must pay an equal amount of money which is sent to the Director Of Internal Revenue and entered on the employee's Social Security account.

Written statements of earnings must be given employees by every employer subject to Social Security Taxes. Every employer is also required to keep records, showing the details of the collection of this money and that it was turned into the Internal Revenue, for a period of four years.

There have been a number of cases come to my attention, where this is not being done. The employer pays the employee in cash and tells the employee he is doing him a favor by not withholding this tax. Not only are both parties breaking the law but the employer is definitely not doing anyone but himself a favor in that he is saving the amount of tax he would have to pay out to Internal Revenue.

The disservice to the employee may not be apparent until he reaches the age for pension and either receives a very small check or none at all because the tax was not withheld and paid by the employer. It would show up immediately if the employee was permanently disabled at a young age and due to there being no Social Security Tax paid the employee would not be entitled to disability social security payments.

As a perfect example of the above, a veteran came to me to make a claim for a Veterans pension, because he had been injured at work. He was drawing two hundred twenty five dollars a month and his wife and three small children were drawing a like amount or four hundred and fifty dollars a month total, from Social Security. This would not have been possible had some employer been doing him a favor and not paying his Social Security tax.

To condense all the above into one sentence - Don't Work For Anyone Unless They Pay Social Security Tax On You. Remember that a Veteran's pension is not intended to be a retirement pay but only a supplement to another retirement plan such as Social Security.

Washington Report

By: Rep. Trent Lott

BACK TO BASICS

As my high school band director was fond of saying when his young musicians tried slipping a little jazz into a simple piece of music:

"Hold everything! Let's stick to the basics. Nothing fancy, please."

That's what Congress appears to be doing in establishing Congressional control over the national budget - something Congress should have been doing long before now. Now that we've backed ourselves into a corner, it looks like we have no choice but to return to the basics of good bookkeeping.

In other words, Congress must find a way to refrain from spending millions of U.S. tax dollars beyond the limit of the budget.

A housewife can't continue to function if she continually exceeds her budget. A farmer would go broke if he spent more than he took in. Even bankers have to place a limit on their spending.

That's what Congress will do if we approve H.R. 7130, the Budget and Impoundment Control Act of 1973. The bill has already been reported out of the House Rules Committee and should reach the House floor for final action in the future.

If enacted as it now stands, the bill would provide for the adoption by the Congress each fiscal year of a Congressional budget for the United States government. In essence, it would place a limit on the amount of money Congress could appropriate.

The bill would also establish a procedure by which the Congress could deal with Presidential impoundment of funds. The President would be required to notify the Congress by special message whenever he intends to impound funds - and Congress would have the power to disapprove the impoundment within 60 days.

As Congressman George Mahon of Texas put it in his testimony before the Rules Committee:

"The concerned men who labored during the long hot summer of 1972 divided the functions of government among three separate branches. The representatives of the people were to be the makers of the law and keepers of the public purse."

"Congressional supremacy in fiscal matters is clearly set forth in the Constitution. That authority to levy taxes and appropriate revenues for the general purposes of government is perhaps the cardinal power of the Congress - the foundation of all legislative power."

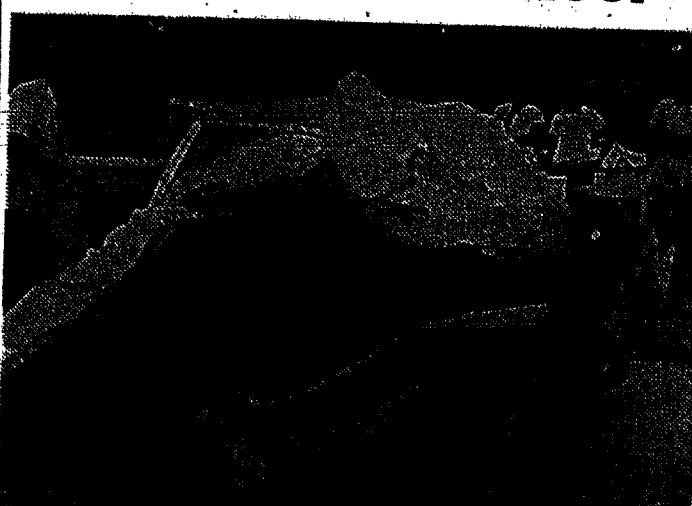

The sad thing about it is that Congress could have adopted a similar bill 25 years ago - and didn't. Former Congressman William Colmer, in fact, lobbied extensively for a budget control bill in those days, only to be told we didn't need it.

If that bill had passed, we might not be in the mess we're in now: Congress might not have exceeded reasonable limits and Presidents might not have been forced to impound funds that exceeded the budget.

It just goes to show you that if you get away from the basics - in any phase of life - you're looking for trouble.

A WEEKLY SUMMARY OF NEWS FROM THE CAPITOL

from U.S. SENATOR
JOHN STENNIS

The resignation of Vice President Agnew requires the selection of a new Vice President for the first time under the 25th Amendment to the Constitution. This amendment was just ratified and made part of the Constitution in 1967.

I was shocked, stunned, and saddened by the facts that brought about the resignation of Mr. Agnew. His resignation unquestionably has saved the nation a drawn out ordeal at a time when we already have many troubles and burdens and when integrity in government is in question.

The President, under provisions of the amendment, has nominated Congressman Gerald Ford of Michigan to serve as Vice President, and that nomination must be approved by a majority vote in both houses of Congress. The Congress has a duty to carefully study the qualifications and background of the man the President has chosen before acting upon the nomination. The role of the Congress is extremely important since the people themselves will not have an opportunity to vote for the new Vice President. The Congress is therefore casting the vote of the nation. While I hope the Congress will consider the nomination thoroughly, I hope it will not be delayed. The President moved swiftly and quickly in choosing a new Vice President. Congress must proceed diligently to fulfill its own constitutional responsibility.

As I see it, the foremost consideration in selecting a new Vice President is his ability to carry out the duties should he later become the President of the United States. Furthermore, the nominee must be a man of integrity, honor, and honesty. On the basis of what I know now, Congressman Ford meets those requirements.

Another major consideration is that the new Vice President must be able to work with the President. The problems we face as a nation are so vast that we must have a President and Vice President working together in harmony. Congressman Ford's support of President Nixon's program in the House of Representatives shows that the two should make a good team.

Finally, the new Vice President should know the problems of the country. A man who has no extensive knowledge of the problems we face as a nation will not be able to help solve them. Gerald Ford has served in the Congress for more than twenty-five years. He has held positions of leadership and responsibility that brought him year in and year out in close contact with the problems of the country and the problems of the government itself.

Congressman Ford seems to be a well qualified and capable Vice Presidential nominee. But we cannot afford to assume anything. The Senate Rules Committee is conducting its inquiry in a careful manner, and I am sure the House Judiciary Committee will, too. Unless new substantial facts are brought out about Mr. Ford, I think he will be approved by a large vote.

In the aftermath of the Agnew resignation - and the difficulty the Democratic Party had last year in choosing a Vice Presidential candidate, the method of selecting Vice Presidents has been properly brought into question. The atmosphere at political conventions is charged not only with partisan politics but politics within the parties themselves. There, under usually hectic conditions, the Presidential nominee is required within a few hours after his own nomination to select and submit his choice of a Vice Presidential candidate to the convention for nomination.

Home Makers Notes

By Norine Bames,
Hancock County Home Economist

Friday, December 7 at noon the Annual Homemakers Club Salad Luncheon will be enjoyed at the Extension Building. Any member of the Hancock County Homemakers Club is eligible to attend. I have heard many favorable comments about this event and I look forward to sharing it with you. As an added attraction the new president, secretary and treasurer of the Council will be installed at this meeting.

Extension office has a number of Christmas idea booklets available. If you would like one, please stop by and pick it up. The office is located on Necaise Avenue, Bay St. Louis.

MAKING GIFT WITH FUR. Furry gifts can be favorites with all members of the family this year. You can use luxurious colorful piles to make all sorts of fluffy-to-touch products, including stuffed animals, big floor pillows, men's and boy's caps, gloves or mittens, scarfs or neck warmers, coats or jackets and even bedspreads.

Here are some suggestions on sewing furry fabrics:

When you pick a furry fabric, check the label to see if it is washable, drycleanable, or "fur clean only". Make sure the care of the product will fit its intended use. For example, don't buy a "fur clean only" fabric to make a baby's teddy bear.

Look at the fabric backing, too. It may be woven, knit or a stabilized knit. Woven and stabilized knit backings make a firmer finished product, probably a better choice for a pillow or bedspread. Knit backings are more flexible and may work best for toys, mittens and products that may be pulled or stretched.

To cut fake fur, cut only the backing - not the pile. You can use scissors or a single-edge razor blade or artists razor knife. To keep bulk down, use a plain woven or knit fabric for facings or lining.

Test your machine by stitching on a scrap. Make adjustments if necessary. For example, you may need to lighten pressure from pressure foot, lengthen the stitch to 8-10 stitches per inch, and adjust the tension.

A larger needle - 14 for lightweight, 16-18 for heavyweight furs - works best.

Use polyester or heavy duty thread. Sew with the direction of the pile whenever possible. Try to keep fur out of the seam line. You may want to shear the fur off seam allowances to reduce bulk and make it easier to sew. It may be necessary to overcast seam edges to prevent backing from raveling.

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor:
Through the various forms of communications today - newspapers, T.V., radio, telephone, and word-of-mouth - one hears many gripes and complaints. I would like to pay a compliment to the Bay St. Louis Fire Department and Police Department.

Tonight, I had occasion to report a fire that had started about two blocks from my home. After placing the call, my husband and I went to see if there was anything we could do to help. By the time we reached the fire, the Fire Department and Police Department arrived. In a matter of minutes, the fire was extinguished and traffic was flowing smoothly.

Believe me, I for one appreciate the swift and efficient efforts extended by these men and would like to take this opportunity to thank and praise the Fire Department and Police Department of Bay St. Louis.

Dear Sir:
Recently I received an anonymous letter inferring that I owned a dog that was making a nuisance of itself by being allowed to run free.

I would like to get this cleared up. The Irish Setter that is making a public nuisance of himself does not belong to me. It belongs to Jimmy Loiacano on Necaise St. I am a member of the Humane Society, have a little dog that is spayed and has never been on the street. I love my dog too much for that.

THE FULL GAMUT of emotions suffered by a woman in despair are movingly portrayed by Nancy Gex, above, in the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre's upcoming production The Effect of Gamma Rays on Man-in-the-Moon Marigolds. A season opener, the play pits a mother against her two teenage daughters, each fighting for emotional survival. Performance dates are Dec. 6, 7, 8 at the Boardman Ave. playhouse.

Family Drama Is In Rehearsal For Season Opener

The Effect of Gamma Rays on Man-in-the-Moon Marigolds, first production of the season at the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre, is deep in rehearsal at the Boardman Street playhouse. Nancy Gex, Susan Smith, Kristin Frankiewicz, Terri Hille, and Franya Frankiewicz are extremely effective in their roles and create a play with tense audience interest.

A competent technical crew has completed the installation of a new switchboard panel and new, heavy wiring. Both light and sound are important to this drama. Director Laurie Byrd is using the original soundtrack for Man-in-the-Moon Marigolds as it was produced on Broadway.

The backstage crew under producer Pat Schott and her assistant, Penny Schilling are Technical Director. John Holmes; Props, Alice Holmes and Michelle Pearson; Sound, David Hubbard; Lights, John Holmes; Set Construction, Victor J. Frankiewicz; David Hubbard, John Holmes, Franya Frankiewicz, John Schott; Technical Assistance, Shirley Anderson; Set Design, Franya Frankiewicz; Make-up, Laurie Byrd, Carolyn Laysen, Jane Vignerie; program and poster design, Lynette Prevou.

Performance dates are on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, December 6, 7 and 8 with a full dress rehearsal on Wednesday to which all high school students are invited.

PTO Officers Elected

A meeting of the Waveland Parent-Teacher Organization will be held Tuesday night at 7 p.m. in the school cafeteria. This will be an Open House and parents will be able to see the various classrooms.

At the last meeting the following officers were elected: President, Mr. Frank Langenbacher; Vice-President, Mrs. Diane Karl; Secretary, Mrs. Sandra Noto and Treasurer, Mrs. Alison Heath.

The organization plans to find various ways to raise funds for extra equipment for the school. Their efforts got off to a "sweet" start when three women made $117 at a recent cake sale at the Flea Market on Coleman Avenue. Mrs. Billy Fedesovich, Mrs. Brenda Bunch and Mrs. Valena Henry baked as well as sold the goodies. The women wish to thank all those who participated in cake donations to make the affair such a huge success.

Today's Teens Write:

Letters To An Unborn Child

The Echo is pleased to reprint the following letters, with the permission of the young women who wrote them.

The letters were written by students in a Gulf Coast high school and we feel that they are some of the more encouraging examples of the thought processes of today's youth. The five letters, each written "To My Unborn Child," were chosen as typical examples of the many submitted to the instructor.

We feel these letters have especial significance for parents because the letters say what a teenage girl usually can't say to her own mother.... things like please love me, and accept me.

Dear Little Baby,

Hello! I hope you're doing all right. I know your home isn't too big right now, but whenever you're ready, there's a home in this world where you can run and play. Baby (I haven't decided your name yet, so I'll call you Baby for now), I do want you to be able to run about and play with others and read a book, too; that's why I want to take special care of myself now because by doing that I'm also taking special care of you.

I've read about and seen pictures of babies whose mothers didn't take care of themselves properly while they were carrying their children. Well, I don't want anything to happen to you. It's not that I wouldn't love you. If something did happen because I would, but I want you to be healthy and normal so you can start out in life with everything God intended you to have. I don't want you to be born deformed or unhealthy or maybe miscarry you because of something I did or didn't do, so I promise you I'll go to the doctor when I'm supposed to and listen and do what he tells me to do.

I'll be careful not to take any medicine I shouldn't especially during the first 3 months. I'll also be careful of what and how much I eat, too, and not take any x-rays. Well, Baby, I want you to know I'm doing all these things because I love you.

Your Loving Mother

Dearest,

Your father and I have thought the decision out very carefully and we both have decided that we are ready for a child. Darling, it's very important that we both want you. You are the only one person that can share the happiness and love we have to offer.

Now that I'm expecting you, I plan to take my daily checkups. I know that checkups are vital for your good health. I also plan to follow the advice of our very reliable family doctor.

You can rest assured that I will watch my weight very closely, and take plenty of exercise. It isn't very healthy for your Mommie to be over weight.

I'll take my medicines with precaution. I won't take any drugs not prescribed by my doctor. I know from books I've read that drugs could do much harm to you. I don't want you detected in any kind of way on my part due to the use of drugs.

Sweetheart, you must know that we want you very much. I'll make it a great home coming for you. Your dad and I will smother you with love and affection.

Hurry, Momie to be

Dear Child,

I have just come out of the doctor's office and he has informed me that I am 2 months pregnant. I'm writing this to inform you as of now I'm going to do everything in my power to have you come into this world a normal and healthy baby. I will follow all the doctors orders to make sure you get the right vitamins and nourishment. I shall also have to stop smoking and drinking.

I shall not take any medicine that will endanger the life and health of you. I shall not wander into the hands of drugs and other harmful things because I want you to be normal and healthy.

I have waited all my life for this moment to feel life inside my body. Now that this time has come I shall not let anything go wrong.

When someone around me is sick I shall leave because I don't want you to be born with any sickness or disease. Some of the people around me smoke pot, drop acid and LSD and all sorts of other drugs. They always offer and I always refuse because I knew that one day I'd get pregnant and have you. I knew that these drugs will cause you to have a deformed child so I stayed away from all these and I shall continue to stay away from them forever.

I pray every night for you to be a normal and healthy child and with my help and protection you will, by all means, be a healthy and normal child.

Love Always,
Your Mother

Dear Baby,

I hope you know that I'm going to a lot of trouble to help mold you into the prettiest, healthiest, happiest baby that ever was born. I hope that when you get old and think about your dear old mom, you'll appreciate me for this. I'm definitely changing my eating habits for you. Before you came along, I used to be halfway on a diet or eating too much junk all the time. Now, since you need vitamins to grow healthy and strong, I'm eating good food regularly. Who knows, I might even improve myself while I'm at it.

I'm not taking any kinds of medicine or drugs whatsoever, unless the doctor tells me to. I think I would crack up if you were born with a defect. I know that I would still love you, but it would hurt me so bad because you would suffer from it.

I'm going to take good care of myself because if I messed you up, I would have to live with that for the rest of my life. That would be too much for me to take.

Taking care of your growth will also be economical in the years to come. If you're healthy, we won't have too many doctor bills to pay.

Another benefit of your being healthy is it will give you a good disposition. People who are healthy are usually happy and full of life. I hope you have a happy entry into the world. You'll be beautiful, I know, no matter what you look like.

Love,

Your Mother
P.S. I hope you have straight teeth.

WHAT HAPPENED? - A sudden and violent explosion from within demolished this Waveland residence and startled neighbors for blocks around. A wall of the house lies intact on the front lawn but debris and sections of the structure littered neighboring yards and blew out windows of houses on either side of the Market St. residence. The house belonged to the H. N. Pedigrews of New Orleans, and was unoccupied at the time. Waveland Fire Chief Kenneth Fayard said that cause of the fire was believed to be a butane gas leak in the house but he was puzzled by a fire that had apparently been burning in the rear of the house for some time before the explosion. The incident is under investigation by the state fire marshal.

Drug Abuse . . .

The history of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Drug Abuse Center began in 1970 when two tenth grade students at Gulfport East High School became deeply concerned about one of their friends who was abusing drugs.

Realizing that no facilities existed in the community to help such people, the two young men approached the parents of one of them and asked for their help. At that time "The Helping Hand of Drug Abuse" in Mobile was receiving some publicity in the way of spot advertisements on television. This center was contacted by the parents and permission obtained to visit.

During this visit it was learned that the center had been started by a police lieutenant in Mobile, that he was assisted by an ex-addict and that the center felt it had had some degree of success. In July, 1970, under the sponsorship of the Kiwanis of Gulfport, two men from "Helping Hand" agreed to come to Gulfport and speak to the community at the Mississippi Power Company's auditorium. Previous efforts to arouse community interest having failed, it was hoped that this attempt would be successful. Letters were sent to various people along the Coast, police officials, mayors, sheriffs, etc., who could lend their support.

In August of 1970 the two young men were told about Rev. Charles Morrison, a young Methodist minister who was interested in the problem of drug abuse. A meeting was arranged and a decision to try to work together was made. Meetings were started on a weekly basis for young adults who felt they needed help; first in a private home and later in the minister's church.

Late in 1971 Dr. John Russell who was conducting a small group regarding drug abuse was contacted and told about Rev. Morrison's efforts and it was suggested that perhaps they could work together. The contact was made and efforts were combined. In the meantime, a building had been located by Rev. Morrison, arrangements had been made for its use, and the Catacombs was born. The community began to become aware of the group and their efforts and although there was a good deal of apathy there was also support in the form of donations both in materials and money. During this time, there were never enough funds and all work was on a voluntary basis.

In the Fall of 1972 real efforts were made to obtain funding from some source for the continuing support and expansion of the program. Prior to this time, Dr. Russell had begun to devote more and more time and attention to the drug abuse problem and its possible solution and the community was becoming evermore aware and supportive. The Harrison County Family Court was also interested in seeing that the program succeed and lent their help and endorsement. After much hard work, many disappointments and delays, funds were obtained through Law Enforcement Assistance Agency. By this time Dr. Russell had given up his private practice and devoted his entire time to the program as well as to obtaining funding.

In addition to the Catacombs, Dr. Russell donated his clinic located on Broad Avenue to be used as an Intake Center. In June, 1973, the city of Ocean Springs, through the efforts of the Junior Auxiliary and other interested citizens, opened another rap house, Shady Oaks.

At the present time, the Drug Abuse Center has three and a half paid staff members and many, many volunteers. For the two high school boys who have remained active in the Center, the progress made in the past 18 months exceeds their wildest dreams especially after the months of frustration and disinterest of others. However, even with what exists today, there are still unfulfilled hopes and goals and it is hoped that with the continued support, interest and hard work of the communities involved that all of these too, will be realized.

Although the Drug Abuse Intake Center and the Catacombs are located in Harrison County, the program encompasses 18 South Mississippi counties. The immediate goal of the center is to expand the outreach program in the other counties and provide support and assistance to these counties to meet their needs in this field as required by the LEAA grants.

Bayside Park . . .

Armand Serpas, one of three directors for the association, said that the group was grateful to the bank for what had been done.

"We've started this thing and come a long way," Serpas said. "Let's keep with it. We want to enclose this place and put restrooms in."

Serpas said that the deed was set up so that if anything ever happened to the association, the property would revert back to the bank.

Colorado Man Caught

With 9 Lids, Concealed Weapons

A Colorado man was arrested in Bay St. Louis and charged with possession of a quantity of marijuana, drug paraphernalia and concealed weapons when he was stopped on Highway 90 for a traffic violation Friday morning.

Highway Patrolman Clyde Hester stopped Scott Michael Hendrix, 19, at the intersection of Highways 803 and 90 when the 1963 Corvair-Hendrix was driving while weaving in and out of traffic in a hazardous manner.

On investigation, Hester saw a Bowie knife half-hidden under the car seat and one of the four passengers in the automobile told Hester that there was marijuana in the trunk of the vehicle.

Hendrix was arrested for reckless driving and concealed weapon and brought to the county jail along with the three male passengers, one a juvenile and a girl.

In a later search of the automobile under a search warrant, Hester confiscated nine lids of marijuana, several other containers of cured marijuana and seeds, numerous articles of drug paraphernalia and a .22 calibre pellet gun.

Additional charges of possession of marijuana and paraphernalia and contributing to the delinquency of a minor were brought against Hendrix, who gave his address as 1173 25th Ave., Greeley, Colo.

All passengers except the juvenile were released as Hendrix told authorities that he had just picked them up hitchhiking on the Louisiana line. The juvenile is wanted by Colorado Youth authorities.

Assisting Hester were Sheriff Sylvan Ladner, Deputy Lathon Garriga, Bay Ptn. Harold Heine and Alvin Favre. Hendrix is detained in county jail under $5,000 bond pending a Dec. 4 hearing.

10 Hospitality Station between the Mississippi state truck scales and Hwy. 807.

The board also approved a motion to designate the Waveland Fire Chief as the city Fire Marshal also. Mayor John Longo said that this technically would give the present fire chief the authority to also inspect buildings for fire hazards.

The board heard Mrs. James McFie of the Bay-Waveland Humans Society read a letter of appreciation for the board's past assistance in getting improvements for the city's dog pound, and asked that the city now consider constructing a fenced area approximately 60 feet by 30 feet for use as an exercise yard for the dogs. The board agreed to assist the society.

U.S. Mail Goes Snorkle

Bay St. Louis Postmaster James R. Shadoin has announced that a snorkle mail box has been installed on Federal Street next to the post office for the convenience of Bay St. Louis patrons. This box is placed so that a patron can mail letters without getting out of his automobile. Postmaster Shadoin also urges all patrons to mail parcels early in order to be sure that they are delivered before Christmas. A schedule is posted at the postoffice as to when parcels and letters should be mailed for Christmas delivery to all overseas countries as well as the United States.

Waveland Man

Injured In Hiway Accident

A Waveland man was taken to Hancock General Hospital at dawn Wednesday morning with injuries resulting from a one-car accident at the junction of Highways 90 and 807.

Charles Cox, 29, was admitted to the hospital with suspected broken bones and other injuries when his automobile ran off the road and overturned, trapping Cox within. State Highway Patrolman Ray Collins investigated the 5:18 a. m. accident.

SSC Names New

Admissions Director

Brother Louis Joseph Richard has been named Director of Admissions at St. Stanislaus High School in Bay St. Louis.

In this capacity he is responsible for the admission of students into the boarding department at St. Stanislaus. At the present time there is a capacity of 300 resident students and a total enrollment of 625 students in the school.

Brother Louis Joseph is presently in his fourth year at St. Stanislaus. He has served as teacher and prefect at the school on two previous occasions. Prior to coming to St. Stanislaus he was principal of E. D. White High School in Thibodaux, La. Since returning to St. Stanislaus, he has served as athletic director and assistant principal.

In assuming his new position, Brother Louis Joseph replaces Brother Hugh St. Stanislaus, a boarding and day school for students from the sixth to the twelfth grades, is operated by the Brothers of the Sacred Heart.

said that Title I officials had warned the county not to be frivolous with funds and advised them not to spend more than 115 percent over money that they received last year.

School Superintendent K. G. McCarty said that any cutback would be reflected in personnel probably.

Title I funds is money turned over to the states by the federal government to supplement school programs in low income areas.

Waterhouse-Richardson Vows Solemnized

Miss Jeanne Marie Waterhouse, daughter of Mrs. James P. Cousins, Bay St. Louis, became the bride of Barry E. Richardson, son of Mr. and Mrs. E.B. Richardson, also of Bay St. Louis, in a double ring ceremony at 10 a.m. Saturday, November 24, at Lutheran Church of the Pines, Waveland. The Rev. G.G. Press of Ozark, Ala., performed the ceremony.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.E. Waterhouse Sr., New Orleans. Mrs. J. Lang of Bay St. Louis and the late Mr. Lang are maternal grandparents of the bridegroom.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white velvet gown fashioned with a round neckline, pointed sleeves and a short train. Her full-length veil of illusion fell from a headpiece of velvet bordered with white mink and pearls. She carried a bouquet of yellow rosebuds, small white chrysanthemums and baby's breath.

Miss Jean A. Stark, Hickory, La., cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid. She wore a blue velvet floor length gown. Mrs. James E. Waterhouse III, New Orleans, La., served her sister-in-law as matron of honor; she wore green velvet floor length gown. They carried bouquets of gold and white chrysanthemums and wore velvet head bows. James E. Waterhouse III attended the groom as best man; and Greg Richardson, brother of the groom, served as groomsman. Ushers were Herman Abel, Harahan, La., and Mike Summers, Bay St. Louis.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church building. The bride's table, overlaid with an heirloom hand crocheted cloth, held a four-tiered wedding cake trimmed with pale yellow spun sugar roses flanked by crystal candelabra. White gladiolus and palms decorated the reception hall.

Tea girls were Judith and Chirlean Lenz, Bethany Jones, cousins of the bride, New Orleans; Mrs. P.H. Abel and Mrs. J. Lafitte presided at the punch table and Mrs. S. Paulina served the cake. After a Florida honeymoon the couple will reside in Pass Christian.

CAROLLO-REDO ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Carollo of Slidell, La., announce the engagement of their daughter, Cynthia Marie, and William Earl Redo, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Redo of Waveland, Miss.

The bride elect is a junior student at Northeast Louisiana University. The prospective bridegroom will graduate in December from the school of Pharmacy at Northeast Louisiana University. A December wedding is planned at Our Lady of Lourdes Church in Slidell, La.

Over 1500 members and their guests came from far and near to enjoy the club's traditional festive Thanksgiving dinner. Fairway Villa was filled with guests from all parts of the country as were the campgrounds. Families were enjoying all facilities in Diamondhead with perfect weather on Thanksgiving Day.

The Diamondhead Garden Club will hold its December 4th meeting at the Club at 10:30 a.m. A luncheon is planned and a workshop on table arrangements to be used for the Ladies Social Luncheon on December 7 at the Club will be held at this time.

Dr. and Mrs. C.H. Porter of Lynchburg, Virginia are spending a week at Fairway Villa enjoying our area, golfing, and touring the Gulf Coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gaines of New Orleans spent last week in their vacation home on Golf Course Drive. Their son joined them from medical school for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. John Knoff of New Orleans spent several days in their new retirement home in the Village last week.

The Norman Halls of New Orleans spent the Thanksgiving holidays just relaxing in their vacation home here.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hobson flew to Lake Forest in Mobile last Tuesday evening to attend a Diamondhead Holiday party.

The Jim Smiths have returned after visiting Jim's parents in Winfield, Alabama. Jim enjoyed a hunting trip while there.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lewko entertained their son and family, The Wendell Lewkos of New Orleans during the holidays.

Mrs. Richard Criss entertained friends from New Orleans at a luncheon card party in her home last Tuesday. Attending were Mmes. Rosemary LeStelle, Ellie Falcon, and Flora Terjak. The Criss family motored to New Orleans on Wednesday to spend the holidays as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carlo DiLeo.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sorensen had as recent guests, Mrs. George Sorensen, Sr. and their daughter and family Mr. and Mrs. Mario Simoncini, all of New Orleans. Tad and Ross Sorensen enjoyed a hunting trip with Mario last weekend near Poplarville.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Almerico Sr., New Orleans, spent the holidays in their Kona Villa residence visiting their son and his family.

Mr. Larry Miller of Diamondhead and Mr. Billy Applewhite of Edgewater each shot a 69 last Monday to share top honors in the Turkey Professional Amateur golf tournament at the Edgewater golf course in Biloxi.

Johnny Folt won the points class with plus two, while J. Mackel was the amateur point winner with a plus nine.

Irene Flavian had low amateur honors with a 74, and Jane Rosen won closest to the hole on number 13.

Bert Newman of Franklin, Louisiana had the longest drive, while the winning team with plus 14 points consisted of Larry Miller, Linda Miller, Mary Crovetta, and Alma Dobson of Diamondhead. Gift certificates were awarded as prizes. Larry, our new Golf Pro and a former Louisiana Open champion, spent a year on the pro tour prior to joining Lake Forest and Diamondhead. I will report next week the winners of the 1973 World Open Championship held in Pinehurst November 6-18 and sponsored by Diamondhead.

The $500,000 World Open Golf Championships brings together 240 of the world's greatest golfers, including up to 70 champions from foreign countries.

Some recent guests enjoying dinner at the Country Club were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baldwin of Slidell, La. Mr. and Mrs. George Walker, Slidell, have recently purchased property here. The John Kelleys of Slidell are also new property owners. Welcome.

YOUTH SERVICE AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

There will be a youth service at 6 p.m. Saturday, December 1, at First Baptist Church, 141 Main Street. "Shades of Light", Long Beach, will be featured singers and Rev. Ronnie Hague will bring a message. The public is invited.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony W. Moran announce the birth of their first child, Susan Antoinette, November 17, at Gulfport Memorial Hospital. She weighed eight pounds, seven ounces.

Mrs. Moran is the former Jeanie Rutherford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rutherford Jr., Bay St. Louis. Paternal grandparents are Mrs. Edward Moran, D'Iberville, Miss., and the late Mr. Moran. Mrs. Henrietta Rutherford, Bay St. Louis, is the maternal great-grandmother.

WRONG SCHOOL

Four of the eight Hancock County area students attending a recent Catholic Youth Organization national convention are not students at Hancock North Central school, as stated in the Nov. 22 Echo article.

Donna Bilbo, Darlene Cuevas and Linda Ladner attend Our Lady's Academy and Keith Hoda is a student at St. Stanislaus. The remaining four are HNC students.

Summer time is still here according to the weather of last Saturday when the temperature registered 80 degrees. Still, which is unusual, fish are steady biting and being caught. Speckles and red fish out at the marsh and along the beach front from Bay St. Louis, both ways from Cedar Point to Bayou Caddy. As far as bass (Green Trout) goes, they are also being caught by fly fishing, casting and with live shrimp. All that is needed is good water and a falling tide with the ambition to go after them.

On the hunting side the first part of the duck season closed Saturday out in the marshes. It will resume shortly. Rabbits, squirrel, other fun-bearing animals, the seasons are still open.

A sportsman in this part of the country always has something to do, fish or hunt, play golf, tennis etc.

Yours truly spent the Thanksgiving holidays in New Orleans with the family. Had a wonderful time. Played pool, did a little fishing and golf. Met a few of my old time sports friends, visited a few bars which fits in the category.

Met a wonderful young scout, 12 years old, Eddie McMichael of Gretna, La. He fishes with friends at Empire, La. Eddie is a member of Troop 66 in N.O. Have more boy scouts and we will have better boys. Scouts prepare for the future and always have something to do.

Lin Dours is another of our ardent fishermen. He fishes at North Shore and gets his share of fish. North Shore is south of Slidell. A great place to catch big speckles, etc. Try it, you will like it.

Timothy and Dan Haggerty, Jr. made a wonderful fishing trip to Del-A-Croix Island Saturday. The caught speckles, red fish, drum, etc. Tim landed a 9 pound red fish of which he was proud. Learned to scale 'em from his granddad. Used a tablespoon upside down to do it. It worked. Ever try it?

Was a pleasure being with Harold Zimmerman of Waveland the other day. Harold is one of our oldest hunters and fishermen. Always ready to go. Still hard to beat when it comes to catching speckle trout.

The first part of the duck season closed last Saturday. Lake Elliot, John Ristolph and Dr. Cliff Comeaux made a duck trip to the marsh with August Raunet for the last day. Haven't heard how many ducks they got but I'll bet it was the limit.

John L. Dulcich of Waveland is quite a fisherman. He goes on every occasion and gets his share of fish.

Talked to Bryan Haggerty, another grandson, Thanksgiving Day. Bryan is stationed at Lowry Air Force Base in Colorado. He enlisted for 4 years. Bryan is an all around sport.

Understand that Horace Ruhr was hospitalized recently. He is out now and doing O.K. Can't keep a good man down!

Joseph Traubur, of New Orleans, informed me that he loves to fish. Joseph said he is always ready to go, anywhere, any place, as long as it is fishing. Better get together buddy, I like it too.

A likeable person is Jane Weber of Weber Surgical Appliances. Mrs. Weber really loves sports. Too busy to participate in them, she claimed. Thanks for the help, Jane.

It has been so warm the past week even mosquitoes and gnats have made their appearance. Carrying some kind of insect repellent in the tackle three-day duck hunting trip at Thibodaux, La. They brought back over forty ducks. Staying on a house boat, roughing it, they had a wonderful time, the kind most hunters enjoy. Paul and Kinta are our younger hunters.

Donald Baker, son-in-law of Bill Griffith is justly proud of the 25 pound bobcat he killed last week while deer hunting on the opening day. Bobcats are plentiful in swampy areas of Hancock County but are seldom killed. A bobcat has a bobtail and pointed ears. Donald said he was disappointed at killing no deer but proud of the bobcat he bagged. Will get a deer later, he said.

Hunters are out in full force as the seasons change. Deer hunting takes first place right now. Duck season will open again. The same goes for goose hunting. Snipe hunting comes later. There will be plenty hunting coming up.

This part of the country is one of the few places where sportsmen can hunt and fish at the same time, in the same waters.

Rodney Authement, his son, and his brother-in-law, Alvin Walsh made a nice catch of salt water fish out along the railroad bridge last Saturday. They were using dead shrimp. Rodney said it was fun pulling 'em in.

There is room for everyone along the bridge. It is 2.10 miles across the Bay. Also room for plenty of fish.

SPORTSMEN OF THE WEEK come in bunches this week as two local and two out-of-town hunters are shown with their bag after a successful goose hunt in the Louisiana marshes. From left, Luke Elliott, Dr. C. C. Comaux, Jr. of Baton Rouge, John Ristoph of Plaquemine and August Rauxet of Bay St. Louis. The foursome made the trip in August's boat.

Legion Boxing Team To Host Bay Matches This Weekend

The American Legion Post 138 boxing team traveled to New Orleans last weekend to compete against the Delta Boxing Club of Harahan. The Legion team had only seven boys competing in matches. Darrell Robinson lost to Herb Bevalacqua of Delta. Paul Williams was defeated by Mike Rala of Delta. Reggie Lanauex lost to Larry Tatman by a decision. Donald Carver lost to David Tatman.

The last three boys from the Bay were stopped by very strong opponents in the second round when the coach stopped the fight.

Mack Booth was TKOed by Anthony Alfonso of Delta. Dan Delgreout was TKOed in his first fight by Mike Judd of Kenner.

Ricky Adam was also stopped by Jimmy Moore of St. Bernard.

The Legion will host four

Boxing teams this weekend in St. Augustine Seminary gym starting at 7:30 p.m. Some will be rematches and should be a very hot contest between these boys.

Among rematches will be: Darrell Robinson of the Legion VS. Darren Cazeon of the Irish Channel; Robert Mitchell VS. David Taranto of Biloxi; Mack Booth VS. David Surett of Biloxi.

All money from the gate will go to the boys boxing fund for expenses to participate in future matches and tournaments in Jackson, Miss.; Lafayette, La.; New Orleans, Biloxi, Pensacola and Kenner.

Harvey Mitchell, team coach, has made an appeal to the community to support the young team members by attending the weekend matches at St. Augustine gym in Bay St. Louis.

First UFO Bowl Is A Winner

The first annual Our Lady of the Gulf U.F.O. football bowl was staged November 17 at St. Stanislaus Stadium.

The day's activities included games between OLG-Pee Wee Bears and St. Paul's Pee Wees of Pass Christian and OLG Bears and B.J. Raiders of Hattiesburg.

St. Paul's defeated O.L.G. Pee Wees 16-0 and the B.J. Raiders overcame the Bears by a score of 24-7.

Awarding of winner's trophies to St. Paul's and B.J. Raiders and sportsmanship trophies to O.L.G. Pee Wees and Bears concluded the day's activities.

Half-time entertainment opened with the Honey Bears drill team in routine under the direction of Beth Spratley and Mrs. Sylvia Spratley.

Participating in the program, depicting a U.F.O. and inhabitants of another planet, were Michelle Chincine, Andrea and Helene Loiccano and Angele and Cherri Monti. Also taking part in the entertainment were Honey Bear majorettes Elizabeth Argus, Susan Robinson and Kathy Treutle.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Monti, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Chincine, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Loiccano, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Compretta, with Mrs. Compretta as co-ordinator, were in charge of the UFO program.

Schools who will participate for the conference championship are: Gulfview school, Lakeshore; Our Lady of the Gulf, Bay St. Louis; St. Clare, Pass Christian; St. Clare, Waveland; Charles B. Murphy, Pearlaring; Ah-nundation, Kiln; and St. Rose, Bay St. Louis.

The conference is divided into two sections. Section A contains fifth and sixth grade boys and girls. Section B will cover seventh and eighth grade students. The first Section A tournaments are slated for Jan. 26-Feb. 2 at St. Paul's gym and Feb. 4-9 at St. Rose, Bay St. Louis.

BWYC Backwash

The warm sunny weather of Thanksgiving weekend was thoroughly enjoyed by many of Bay Waveland's members who were seen out sailing. A number of unscheduled very interesting practice races were held in the Flying Scots.

In order to stay competitive in this increasingly popular racing class, BWYC is now planning to trade-in and purchase one new Scot each year, and two complete new sets of sails. It is hoped that in the not too distant future provisions may be made for dry storage of the Scots, eliminating much of the maintenance on the boats and keeping them in better racing condition.

The annual Stockholders meeting is scheduled for December 8. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

Pirates Overwhelm Greyhounds In Turkey Bowl

by Ted Stechmann
Special to the Echo
The Pass High Pirates sporting their best gridiron season in several years invaded Greyhound Stadium Thanksgiving Eve and manhandled Ocean Springs 20-8 in the 5th annual Turkey Bowl.

The tempo of the game was set early when Mark Jenkins intercepted a Mike Bruno pass on the Greyhounds' second play from scrimmage. Pass High quarterback Vic McDonald lost no time in capitalizing on the Greyhound error. Alternating his running backs Hilton Swanier, Perry Jenkins and Thomas Boyd on sweeps and dive plays, McDonald marshalled the Pirates down to the Greyhounds one-yard line.

Fullback Otis Woods then came in with a play from the bench and carried the ball in himself through a hole on the left side of the line. For the conversion attempt, the Pirates ran the same play again, this time giving the ball to Thomas Boyd who went in untouched for 2 points. The two teams dueled to a standoff for the remainder of the first quarter and well into the second before the Pirates could muster another scoring drive. Hilton Swanier playing perhaps his best game as a Pirate, with 156 yards rushing, churned out most of the yardage on the drive and Thomas Boyd got the final seven on an end sweep. The subsequent attempt at a 3-point conversion failed and the Pirates held a 14-0 lead.

Ocean Springs then mounted a drive on the passing arm of Mike Bruno; but were stopped on the Pirates' 20-yard line by good defensive play. A Greyhound field goal try from that point was wide and the half ended with Pass High in control.

The Pirates scored again on their first possession of the second half. Once again it was Hilton Swanier doing most of the work twisting and turning his way through the Greyhound defense. When the going got tough inside the Ocean Springs 5-yard line, however it was the power running of fullback Otis Woods that earned the score for the Pirates. This time the attempt at a conversion failed, and the Pirates extended their lead to 20-0.

The Pirate defense was called on again to stop a Greyhound march deep in their own territory on the very next series, and did so turning the ball over to the offense on the Pirates' 5-yard line. Quarterback McDonald then started the Pirates moving in the opposite direction and capped off the drive with a scoring strike to split end Paul Joseph who was standing alone in the end zone. Thomas Boyd scampered in for an additional 2 and the Pirate lead zoomed 28-0 with 2 minutes elapsed in the final quarter.

With time running out the Greyhounds finally found the right combination for 6 points as quarterback Bruno found Robert Pennell running at full stride at the goal line. Bruno then kept the ball himself for a 2-point plunge and cut the Pirate lead to 28-8 with 1:30 left in the game.

The Pirates came charging back and a 40-yard scamper by Swanier put the ball at the Ocean Springs one-yard line. With time enough for one play, McDonald gave the ball to Swanier again on a dive but the Greyhound defense stacked him up at the goal line and the horn sounded ending play.

Swanier's outstanding running won him most valuable back honors, and Byron Bowser was cited as the most valuable lineman. Outstanding Offensive and Defensive play trophies were awarded to Otis Woods and Albert Ellis respectively.

Pass High running back Perry Jenkins was awarded the most valuable Pirate of 1973 trophy during halftime of the contest. The trophy was donated by Jay-Jay Chevrolet and was presented by Mr. Dave Stacks, representative of the firm.

Crystal Springs Wins 4th Jaycee Bowl

By EDWARD FAVRE
Crystal Springs, Miss. High School Football Team defeated St. Paul's of Covington, La. in the fourth annual Jaycee Bowl last Friday night at Tiger Stadium in Bay St. Louis.

The 20-13 win gave Crystal Springs the perpetual trophy and the right to return to Bay St. Louis next year to defend their title.

St. Paul scored after taking the opening kick off and returned it 90-yards for a touchdown. Sam Johnson was the ball carrier. Paul Gulchet made good on the extra point attempt giving St. Paul a 7-0 lead.

With 11:23 to go in the second period Mike Templett scored from one yard out for St. Paul's. Joe Simpson's extra point attempt was no good.

In the first half Crystal Springs made only one serious threat before it was stopped at the St. Paul's 25-yard line on a pass interception by Joe Simpson. The first half ended with St. Paul's leading 13-0.

Early in the third period Marcomes Newell scored the first Crystal Springs touchdown. On a reverse play from 9-yards out. The point after touchdown was no good.

Later in the third period quarterback Steve Lingle passed 18-yards to Anthony Young for Crystal Springs' second TD. Scott Jones made good on the extra point, making the score 13-13 at the end of the third period.

Mike Wilson scored the winning touchdown with a 5:52 left in the game on a hand off from Steve Lingle from 5-yards out. Jones added the extra point to end the scoring.

Late in the fourth period Crystal Springs stopped a St. Paul's drive at Crystal Springs' 12-yard line, to prevent a possible touchdown and maybe a tie score.

Mike Wilson of Crystal Springs was named Most Valuable Back and Mike Mayronne of St. Paul's was named the most outstanding Lineman of the game. Both players were presented a trophy.

Crystal Springs took first place trophy and St. Paul took runnerup trophy.

Crystal Springs is coached by Terrill Ramjolph, a Bay High graduate and former Hancock North Central coach.

St. Clare Elementary Field Day

Wildcats Cop Turkey Bowl Trophy

by Father Bertin Glenn
The Annunciation Wildcats emerged victorious in the fifth annual Turkey Bowl, defeating a stubborn St. Paul team 12-6 Nov. 18. It was the second time in five outings that the Wildcats came home with the Turkey Bowl trophy.

Annunciation took the opening kick-off, but was unable to move the ball. St. Paul's took a short punt from Wayne Hoda and began to mount a drive. Twice the Wildcat defense held, but the Rebels were not to be denied. In the middle of the second quarter the Rebels put together a drive climaxed by a three yard off-tackle plunge by Jim McKeogh. The extra point attempt failed, and the half ended with the Rebels holding a 6-0 lead.

It looked like the second half would be a repeat of the first as the Wildcats continued to have trouble mounting a drive against the tough Rebel defense. Then in the third quarter of play the Wildcats moved the ball to the Rebel seven yard line. Tom Jordan connected on a pass with Chris Martin for the first Wildcat score. The extra point attempt failed and the score was knotted at 6-6.

The Rebels came back with a strong running attack composed of John Logan, Freddy Keel and Jim McKeogh, but a Rebel fumble at the 20 ended the drive. A second drive was killed after the Wildcat defense led by Cletus and Paul Haas held the Rebels for no gain on a fourth down and short yardage.

The second Wildcat score came in the fourth quarter on a 48 yard pass play from Jordan to Martin again, but again the extra point attempt failed.

The Wildcat defense saved the game again after the Rebels took the kickoff and moved the ball inside the Wildcat 10 yard line. There McKeogh was held twice and a sweep around end by Keel netted only a few yards. With fourth and goal to go, McKeogh tested the left side of the Wildcat line and found Terry Swilley, Paul Haas and Greg Strief waiting for him. The ball was placed on the one yard line and the Wildcats took possession with 38 seconds left to play to hang on to a 12-6 victory. Jim McKeogh of St. Paul's was selected as the game's most valuable player. The Wildcats ended their season with a 4-4 record.

Safe Hunting Practices Pay Off

What's your game? Squirrels or deer? Whatever you intend to track through the woods be sure you do it safely.

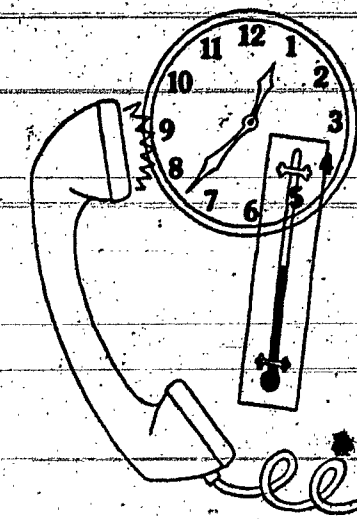

"One way to insure this," says Paul Ott, Sight-Saving Chairman for the Mississippi Society for the Prevention of Blindness, "is to be certain you have good vision before you load a gun and start firing. Each year deficient eyesight is a leading cause of hunting accidents. One in four victims is wrongly identified as an animal by a fellow hunter. Another 13 percent are wounded because a hunter shoots indiscriminately at something that moves but he can't see."

Ott and the Mississippi Society point out that vision tests for all seeking hunting licenses could help reduce the number of hunting accidents. Many hunters are not aware that they have astigmatism, reduced field of vision, farsightedness, nearsightedness or color blindness—all of which affect visual acuity. Hunters who wear corrective lenses are advised to make certain they are safety lenses. Impact-resistant lenses will more adequately protect eyes from stray pellets, ejecting shells, twigs and other dangers without reducing visibility.
